

Masked Bandit in Stickup

A masked bandit made off with between $25 and $35 in cash when he robbed a service station attendant at the Standard Oil Station at 182nd St. and Hawthorne Blvd. early Tuesday.

Junior Richardson, the attendant, told police he was walking toward his car which was parked on the lot, when the bandit suddenly appeared and ordered him inside the station.

Holding the hammer of his pistol back in a cocked position, the robber ordered the victim to place all the cash from the registers inside a plastic bag.

"Don't stall around," he growled at one point.

After he had obtained all the cash, the bandit ordered Rich-
